

How Your Firm Can Benefit From Automating Accounts Receivable

You might be hesitant to make changes at your firm for any number of reasons. But, integrating your payment processing should not be one of them.

1 Streamline Your Workflow

Billing is a thankless process. There are many steps to creating accurate invoices for your clients, getting them out on time, and chasing after payments

The Benefit

While automation can't do everything, it takes a lot off your staff members' plates, such as tracking due dates, reviewing A/R aging reports, and sending out reminders. Your staff also has a much easier time following your billing processes to a T because of automated workflows, internal reminders, and a central interface.

2

Receive More Payments On Time

The goal of consistent and user-friendly billing processes is to get paid, fast.

The Benefit

By relying on software that delivers invoices to clients' inboxes, automatically sends reminders at custom intervals, and offers one-click payment options, your clients have a better experience and are more likely to pay on time. Client payments aren't automatic. But e-payments through a trusted solution will hit your account faster than dealing with banks processing cash or paper checks at a snail's pace.

3

Improve and Predict Your Cash Flow

When your clients are more likely to pay you in full and on time, your firm has a more consistent cash flow.

The Benefit

Over time, you can use your billing solution's reporting functions to track your cash flow carefully. Better yet, forecasting your cash flow can help your firm prepare for lean times or, on a more optimistic note, prepare for upgrades and investment.

Manage your entire firm, from client intake to invoicing

There's nothing easy or simple about navigating change management, but your revenue and growth capabilities depend on it. Contact us today to learn how your firm can leverage automation.

Scale Your Firm

4

If you hope to bring in more attorneys, clients, and staff to your firm in the coming years, then the time to prepare is now, not once they arrive.

The Benefit

A more efficient billing process and improved cash flow visibility give you a solid foundation for growth.
